Hi all,

The map proposed lacks logic. As someone who lives in Plano (67), I'm not sure what I have in common with someone who lives in Blue Ridge, yet this new map has us in the same region. Princeton and Anna have more in common with Blue Ridge than I ever will. The issues that are impacting me in Plano are very different than the issues impacting Blue Ridge. Not only does this appear to be gerrymandering, this also places undue stress on those campaigning.

As someone who has considered running for office, this is incredibly discouraging. That said, I've seen the numerous letters received and it's clear the Texas Legislative is not interested in representing Texans.

See you at the Supreme Court.

Thank you,
Embher C.
