Message:

Erin Zwiener is a neighbor and my representative for House District 45 and she has done a wonderful job representing me in both her first term and now in her current term. She is very popular among her constituents and is very likely to be re-elected for a third term.

I have recently learned, however, that the redistricting lines have drawn her out of her own district. Indeed, if you look at the proposed map, the line makes an *unnecessary* turn around her house - cutting her out of District 45 and making her ineligible to be our representative next session. According to the current proposed map, most of her current constituents will remain in District 45.

As voters we choose our representative, and policies and laws should be in place to protect this representation where reasonable. I am requesting that a small adjustment be made to the proposed redistricting lines so that Erin Zwiener will continue to reside within District 45 and can continue to be our representative should she win a third term.

To be clear - there is *no reasonable defense against making this adjustment*. To refuse to keep Erin Zwiener within District 45 is to engage in the dirtiest kind of cowardly politics.

I understand that Republicans are afraid of Erin Zwiener. But cowardice and logical contortions should not be a defense against fair and reasonable policies and laws.
